

Journal314's Exploration of Worldly and Transcendent Tension

6/28/24

#naturalism , #worldly , #transcendent , #renunciation

- The Divided-Self, Always Falling, Double-Mindedness

MOC- Worldly & Transcendent Experiences of Nihilism

The Worldly Experience of Nihilism- The Inefficiency of Language and Varying Degrees of Severity

The Phenomenology of Worldly & Transcendent Experiences of Nihilism  The Worldly Experience of Nihilism- Definitions

- Augustine's Internal Struggle: Augustine's writings provide a vivid account of his personal struggle to reconcile worldly desires with the pursuit of God. His journey, as depicted in Journal314, highlights the constant tension between these two forces. [1]
- Tolstoy's Journey of Transformation: Similarly, Tolstoy's life reflects a clash between worldly values and spiritual aspirations. His writings capture his journey from a life of privilege to one defined by simplicity and service, demonstrating the inherent tension between these two paths. [1]
- St. John of the Cross and Self-Denial: St. John of the Cross emphasizes the importance of self-denial as a means to detach from the material world and foster a deeper connection with God. This path involves relinquishing ego and the desire for control, embracing humility and surrender. [2]
- The Allure and Inadequacy of Worldly Desires: Journal314, through the works of Augustine, Tolstoy, and St. John of the Cross, reveals the captivating nature of worldly desires. These desires, often deeply ingrained, create a persistent struggle between seeking pleasure and comfort and pursuing a higher spiritual reality. [2] The document argues that material possessions, social status, and personal power ultimately fail to provide true happiness. It posits that these pursuits can hinder spiritual growth. [2]
- Miguel de Molinos and "Nothingness": Molinos emphasizes the importance of internal reflection and spiritual silence. He presents "Nothingness" as a critical stage in the spiritual journey. According to Molinos, this experience leads to a deeper understanding of one's limitations and reliance on God. [3]
- Jesus' Teachings on Transcendence: Jesus' teachings, particularly the Sermon on the Mount, provide a foundational exploration of resisting evil through non-resistance, renouncing worldly possessions, and embracing love and compassion. [3] These teachings guide individuals toward transcending the limitations of the physical world. [4] Journal314 quotes Jesus: "Sell that ye have, and give alms; provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth." [4] This quote encourages a shift in focus from worldly possessions to spiritual treasures.

Thinkers Highlighted in Journal314

Journal314 leverages the insights of various thinkers, including:

- Augustine
- Miguel de Molinos

- Leo Tolstoy
- St. John of the Cross
- Jesus

These figures provide a diverse range of perspectives on the tension between worldly values and spiritual aspirations. Journal314 utilizes their arguments to emphasize the importance of self-awareness, detachment from material possessions, and the pursuit of a deeper, more meaningful existence. [1-4